PRICE THREE CENTS

SPECIFIED AMOUNT PAID INSPECTORS

Commissioners Allow Them Pay for Four Days Without Mileage for Primary Services.

NO EXTRA PAY FOR TRUSTEES

Per Diem of $3 Granted Judges, Clerks and Sheriffs who Served on The Precinct Boards.

Compensation of $3 a day for four days was granted inspectors who served in the recent primary by the county commissioners when they took up consideration of election claims this morning. The inspectors were allowed two days for serving on the boards and an extra day for going after the ballots and supplies and also for returning them after the polls closed. Mileage of ten cents a mile is usually granted inspectors, but Thomas Branaman, county attorney, ruled that if they were paid $3 for going after and returning the supplies they were not entitled to the mileage. The ruling means that the inspectors will receive $12 each for their services.

It has been a custom for years to appoint the township trustees as inspectors in the precincts where they live and heretofore they have drawn a compensation in addition to their regular salaries. Mr. Branaman, in ruling on the claims for the primary, held that they were not entitled to the extra pay and that their services as inspectors were a part of their duties as trustees. This is the first time in Jackson county that the trustees who served as inspectors were not paid for such work.

Whether or not the law required them to serve as inspectors does not seem to be entirely clear, but it is a safe guess that the majority of trustees will not serve on the elec-

MOTHERS' DAY OBSERVED AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

"Present Day Influence of Motherhood" Subject of Pastor's Sermon.

Mothers' Day was celebrated Sunday at the morning services at the First Methodist church. The theme chosen by the pastor was "The Present Day Influence of Motherhood."

In his discourse, the Rev. Charles W. Whitman brought out three important facts which women coming into politics will not permit. First, that no mother will vote to place the liquor traffic before her boy; second, every mother will be against universal military training; and third, that the modern woman will be willing to try the experiment of the league of nations as a means of universal peace. He also emphasized that modern women will demand better housing conditions, better working conditions in the factories for the child and better moral and social conditions for its development.

FIFTEEN HURT IN TRACTION CRASH

Hoosier Flyer, Due Here at 3:18 p. m., Hits Cement Carrier Near Sellersburg Saturday.

LONG CURVE HIDES DANGER

Motorman on Flyer Has Right-of-way and Did not See Freight Car Protruding Over Track.

Fifteen persons were hurt, none seriously, when the Hoosier Flyer on the Indianapolis-Louisville Traction Line due here at 3:18 o'clock was wrecked eight miles south of Sellersburg Saturday afternoon. The interurban car which was heavily loaded rammied into a cement car and overturned. Physicians from New Albany, Jeffersonville and Sellersburg responded to calls of officials when the first report of the wreck was received.

The train, carrying cement from Speed Mills to Louisville, backed into a quarry siding and stopped, one of the cars protruding over the interurban tracks, according to the Jeffersonville dispatcher.

Because of a long curve the motorman on the Hoosier Flyer, which has the right of way, could not see the obstruction.

The passenger car was running at about forty miles an hour when the crash occurred. It was turned over by the impact, pinioning passengers beneath the wreckage.

In charge of the interurban were Motorman Carrothers and Conductor

SUM OF $15,000 MADE AVAILABLE

Several Additional Appropriations Approved by County Council in Special Session.

$10,000 FOR BRIDGE REPAIR

Effort Will Be Made to Repair Structures Rather Than to Replace Them Now.

Appropriations totaling about $15,000 were made by the county council in special session at the court house this afternoon. The meeting was called in order that funds for purposes deemed urgent might be made available immediately.

Of the total amount appropriated about $10,000 will be used for the repair of bridges in different parts of the county. A number of culverts and bridges are in an unsafe condition and while the commissioners thought that they ought to be replaced with new structures an effort to be made to repair them for the present. This was decided in view of the exorbitant cost of new material. It is thought that the price of iron and cement may fall in the near future and that the repairs to be made will suffice until building material prices fall.

An appropriation of $3,500 was made for repairs on the county heating plant. These have been under consideration for some time and the county authorities decided that the work could not be postponed longer. The repairs will be made during the summer and early fall so

NOTICE RELATIVE TO FIXING LEVIES BOARD OF REVIEW IN FIRST SESSION

L. N. Hines, State Superintendent, Gives Suggestion in Letter to School Officials.

Adjournment is Taken Until Tuesday Morning When Organization Is Effected.

DISBURSEMENT OF STATE AID TO CONSIDER ASSESSMENTS

Minimum Wage Law to be Accepted as Basis, He Says—Increases in Salary Approved.

In a letter to local school authorities, L. N. Hines, state superintendent of public instruction, outlines the course they should follow in fixing school levies this fall. He also mentions the rules governing the disbursement of state aid to school corporations which are entitled to such support.

"The minimum statutory levies of 50, 60 and 75 cents, specified in Section 4, Chapter 233, Acts of 1919," says the announcement, "must be levied in 1920 by all school corporations desiring to share in the distribution of the state aid school fund for the school year of 1921-22. In other words, the levies fixed in September of the present year should be made in accordance with the requirements stipulated in said Section 4 of the Acts of 1919 as a basis for qualifying for state aid during the school year of 1921-22. This statement is made in accordance with the advice of the attorney-general.

"The department in this connection wishes further to advise that the suggested minimum wage for grade teachers determined by this department, will be accepted in figuring the amount of state aid a school corporation is entitled to, and that a salary of $9 a day for superintendents of town schools, and principals of township schools, and a salary of $7.50 a day for principals of town schools and one assistant principal in each township high school, and a salary of $6.50 a day for all other high school teachers employed to teach high school subjects only, will be approved until further notice where school corporations find it necessary to apply for state aid.

"A salary of $6.50 a day will be approved where a regular high

BUTLER APPEARS TO GAIN STRENGTH

Supporters of Herbert Hoover Concentrate Efforts on Second Choice Votes.

JOHNSON MAY TAKE FLOOR

Californian Expected to Fight League of Nations in Any Form.

Chicago, June 7.—Campaign managers and hienants were making a last day drive upon delegates today in the interests of their respective candidates for the Republican presidential nomination.

Although the balloting was not expected to begin before Thursday or Friday, the many state caucuses scheduled for today were generally looked upon as closing the door to general incursions into the various delegations, through practical determination of how the states would stand on their first vote.

There were two outstanding features today—a definite "trend" toward Butler, who had figured but little heretofore, and discovery that the supporters of Herbert Hoover, supposedly the veriest amateurs in politics had borrowed a leaf from their more practical brethren and apparently built up a surprisingly strong aggregation of second choice delegates.

The Butler people declare the final battle in the convention will be between their man and Lowden, eliminating

DRY AMENDMENT DECLARED VALID

Supreme Court in Sweeping Decision Also Upholds Volstead Enforcement Act.

SUPERCEDES STATE ACTION

National Prohibition Now Stands Until Removed by Constitutional Action.

By United Press.

Washington, June 7.—The United States supreme court today upheld constitutional prohibition.

In a sweeping decision the court declared that the prohibition amendment to the constitution is valid and held that the Volstead act enforcing it is constitutional. The court's action means that the Volstead law prohibiting the sale of any beverage containing one-half of one per cent. or more of alcohol must be enforced in every state of the union, regardless of whether the state has ratified the amendment. State laws providing higher alcoholic contents such as have been enacted in New Jersey, Wisconsin and Rhode Island are nullified.

The decision dispels the hope of the brewing owners that the property could be used for the manufacture of beer and light wines and thereby minimize the losses due to national prohibition. The court's decree handed down after three months' attack on it is a complete victory for the federal government and the prohibition forces.

It is so far reaching that it settles once for all that national prohibition will stand until the prohibition amendment is removed from the constitution by action of three-fourths of the states.

All the contentions made by the most skillful lawyers of the "wets" were swept aside on the ground that it was legally ratified and states in so doing gave congress power to enact the Volstead law.

NEW CHAIRMAN OF STATE DELEGATION

Senator Watson Named Member of Committee on Resolution at G. O. P. Conventions.

MAYOR JEWETT ON RULES

James B. Keating Selected as National Committeeman from This State.

Chicago, June 7.—The Indiana caucus today chose Senator Watson, spoken of for chairman of the resolutions committee, as its member of that body. Watson easily defeated opposition against him in the delegation.

The chairmanship of the delegation went to Senator New, and Governor Goodrich was selected as a member of the permanent organization committee. Joseph B. Keating, of Indianapolis, was elected national committeeman. Mayor Charles W. Jewett, of Indianapolis, rules; and John L. Moorman, credentials.

"Dark horse" stock soared today on the eve of the opening of the Republican national convention. The boom in the "dark horses" was topped by Charles Evans Hughes, standard bearer in 1916. Incoming delegates reported much Hughes talk throughout the country.

Hughes headquarters was opened here and Senator Borah, field marshal for Hiram Johnson, told newspaper men that if Hughes would accept an anti-league of nations plank he would favor him for a second choice candidate provided, of course, Johnson's nomination was impossible. This is in no sense an abandonment of Johnson, it was emphasized.

The name of Irvine L. Lenroot, senator from Wisconsin, also figured prominently in the dark horse talk and there was a rumor that Governor Spraul, of Pennsylvania, would receive the support of the "old guard" when balloting starts at the Coliseum.

Some delegates heard that a stampede for Governor Allen, of Kansas, was being arranged and others had information that General Pershing would be sprung if a deadlock is reached.

"BUSINESS FIRST," SLOGAN OF ADVERTISING MEN

Members of Associated Advertising Clubs To Witness Pageant At Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, June 7.—Advertisers from all parts of the world were here today to attend the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the world.

Their slogan of "Business First" was put into effect without delay. The program started immediately after breakfast with the entire morning taken up with addresses on advertising by Joseph French.

Johnson, of New York University and president Alexander Hamilton Institute; E. G. Weir, of Dowagiac, Mich.; L. D. H. Weld, of Swift and Company; A. H. Deute, manager of Borden's Condensed Milk Company, New York; Tim Thrift, of Cleveland and William D'Arcy, of St. Louis.

The afternoon was given over to interdepartmental meetings.

Tonight, the visitors will witness a pageant by several hundred persons in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the foundation of Indianapolis.

Nine delegates were discussed for the presidency of the A. A. C. W., and three cities were conducting active campaigns for the 1921 meeting. The cities were Milwaukee, Atlanta and Des Moines, with Atlanta considered the chief bidder. The presidential possibilities were: Charles F. Higham, of London, M. P.; Rueben H. Donnelly, of Chicago, incumbent; Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago; E. D. Gibbs, of Akron, O.; Lafayette Young, Jr., of Des Moines; Louis Wiley, of the New York Times; United States Senator Walter E. Edge, of New Jersey; H. S. Firestone, manufacturer of Firestone tires; and William Wrigley, the chewing gum man.

THE BOMB A "DUD."

President Wilson took occasion upon the adjournment of congress to throw a political bomb with the hope that the noise of its explosion would detract attention from the constructive legislation that has been enacted by the Republican congress, despite opposition from the White House. The shell fired from the executive mansion has not exploded and the general guess is that it will prove to be a "dud."

The President expressed his criticism of the congress in a letter to the Railroad Brotherhoods who pro-

Nonexpensive—Cut This Out.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Ask your druggist for three quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Aroline and pour it into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and snuff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat so clean and healthy that germs of flu or any other germs will have a hard time gaining a foothold.

HEALTH BY BIO-FEREN

"I feel I owe you people a world of gratitude for the benefit I have received in using your wonderful remedy—Bio-feren Tablets, which have completely restored me to normal conditions," says Joseph E. Webb of Muncie, Indiana.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest and quickest remedy for nervous, run down, weak, anemic men and women ever offered direct through the druggists and is not at all expensive.

Take two after each meal and one at bed time, and after seven days take one after each meal and one at bed time until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if you are not in better health—if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen minded, yes, twice as much as you did before, the druggist who sold you the tablets will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

tested in a telegram against the adjournment of congress without legislation to remedy the high cost of living. The President places all the blame on congress. Such a course was expected. Congressmen expected such a letter long before this. The Wilsonian policy is not new. It has been followed in practically every instance where the policies of the executive and the congress were different.

President Wilson declares that congress has failed to revise the tax laws. He omits to say, however, that the administration has continued its wild orgy of spending and that because of this program the government of the United States carries an indebtedness of more than one billion dollars this year. The President has forgotten that congress objected to the expenditure of $600,000 by Newt. Baker, Wilson's secretary of war for automobiles and motor trucks long after the war ended and with thousands of trucks rotting in storage yards. The President has overlooked that every time congress inquired about some of the useless expenditures and protested against them the White House answered "politics." The President has forgotten that he and his cabinet raised a terrible howl when congress reduced appropriations demanded by millions of dollars.

The present congress as endeavored to reduce expenses, but it had no control over executive actions. The secretaries of the different departments had the co-operation and support of the President in what they did against the approval of congress.

So far as the congress keeping the United States out of peace, the country at large is thankful that America has been protected from entangling alliances with European nations. The public is thankful that America is not to become embroiled in European affairs to the extent of keeping thousands of men under arms for police duty in distant zones. The President does not seem to realize that the rejection of his plan has preserved American independence.

GREATEST CONVENTION IN YEARS OPENS IN CHICAGO

Republican Delegates Ready to Take up Work of Selecting Candidate.

Chicago, June 7—Chicago, an inveterate first nighter in things political, today joyously awaited the raising of the curtain on the Republican national convention tomorrow.

Tragedy, comedy, farce or melodrama, Chicago didn't care. She was prepared to enjoy whatever transpired. She had seen all these shows from the fiery days of the civil war, through the formal meetings which ratified the choices of party leaders to the convention of the steam roller and the dramatic book of Theodore Roosevelt and his bull moosers.

There was no scenario for the big meeting which opened in the huge Coliseum today—none of the epigrams to be voiced, none of the dramatic scenes were predicted, nor the denouement. But Chicago is dressed for the occasion. If the 984 delegates and party factotums believed they carried the fate of a nation upon their shoulders, the crowds cared not. They were to enjoy the spectacle, the jockeying and the fighting, perhaps the mob scene from which one figure should emerge—the one man chosen as a candidate to head a nation of one hundred million persons.

Chicago, accustomed to crowds, was crowded. Streets overflowed. Traffic officers grew hoarse and apoplectic, attempting to guide those floods of humanity into the proper channels.

Hotels were choked. With rooms reserved almost from the hour of announcement that the convention was to be held here, the late comers found themselves at the mercy of private homes, where the rate depended upon ability to pay.

Everywhere there was a quest of notables. The men much in the public prints were pointed out, delightedly hailed and sought at every opportunity. For the most part those men were the ones who kept to their quarters.

All candidates had headquarters running twenty-four hours to the day. Only the directors knew what meant the strenuous bawling into telephones, the hundreds of messages dispatched, the mysterious conferences and the bales of publicity matter handed out.

Men who have watched conventions from the time of the civil war pronounced the convention of this year the greatest of them all. They spoke from the standpoint of interest manifested by delegates and visitors. Confident that this is a Republican year and that the G. O. P. candidate will romp to victory, there was an air of elation in all the party activities.

James Preston, press sergeant-at-arms, who attends both Republican and Democratic conventions, said that this was the greatest of them all from the point of attendance. The several hundred newspapermen gathered to report the proceedings were under his care. He claimed never to have seen so many men of the press together before.

The Coliseum wore a forbidding air, viewed from the outside. Gray and cheerless, it belied the animation within. Workmen were more than a month preparing those tiers of seats on floor and gallery. They had decorated the building, too. Flags, bunting and pictures relieved the bareness of the huge room in which 13,000 persons were to sit while the party passed in judgment upon the fitness of one man to lead it to victory this fall. There was a utilitarian motive in the decorations, too. Without them the voices of even the strongest-throated would be shattered by the immensity of the room.

TRADE MARK

Farm Tractor

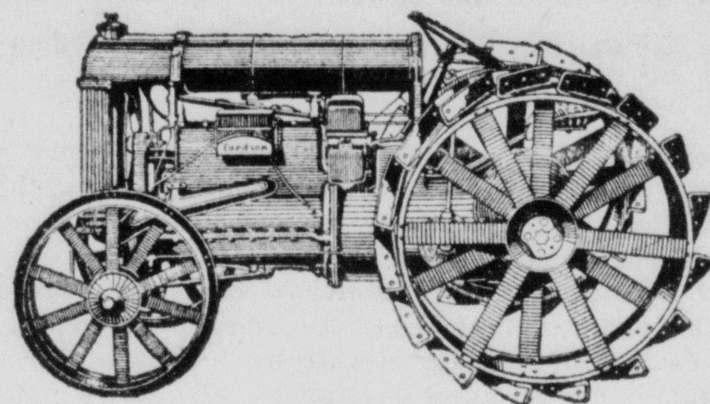

There is only one model of the Fordson tractor. Henry Ford knows the wisdom of concentrating every energy on one model; his genius has been centered on building just one compact, easily operated tractor—a tractor useful on small farms or large farms, field work or belt work—and that will cost the least to maintain and operate.

Henry Ford & Son have specialized—they have made one tractor and made it well. That means lower manufacturing costs and a lower selling price for tractor or tractor parts, and a most serviceable, reliable tractor.

It means that the Fordson dealer is able to carry a goodly stock of tractor parts, and that he can give prompt, efficient service to the Fordson farmer. The Fordson, like the Ford car, is a utility for use during the entire year.

The demand for Fordsons is far greater than present production. Place your order now—if you delay, you may not be able to get your tractor when you want it. Order now—it is your protection.

Acknowledged—The Biggest Development In Recent Years

THE FACTORY which produces food raising equipment is assured a permanent demand for its products. The Midwest Engine Company specializes in food raising equipment. The demand for luxuries and semi-luxuries may fluctuate, but the demand for Midwest products is as steady as the demand for food.

When war had drawn on the animal and man power of the American farm to a dangerous point, the Midwest Engine Company perfected and marketed the Utilitor—a small, practical, self-driven power unit that does the work in the field of one horse and, besides, does all the work on the belt that any good three horse-power stationary gas engine can do.

Several thousand Utilitors are giving satisfactory service in the hands of users. At this writing 300 dealers are selling the Utilitor in this country and abroad.

Many of the best known authorities have gone on record as saying that: "The Utilitor will be sold as universally as the best known small car." "It is the biggest development the country has seen in many years." "No matter how slow a farmer is to admit that any machine can solve the farm help problem—seeing is believing. The Utilitor DOES plow successfully. It DOES do all the work of one horse. It DOES do all the work of a good gasoline engine." These statements are typical.

The fact that such people as Luther Burbank, John D. Rockefeller, Dr. Wiley, C. F. Kettering, Orville Harrold and wife of Admiral Benson have bought Utilitors is important, but even more important is the fact that several thousand practical farmers have bought them—and are getting service out of them in excess of anything they believed possible.

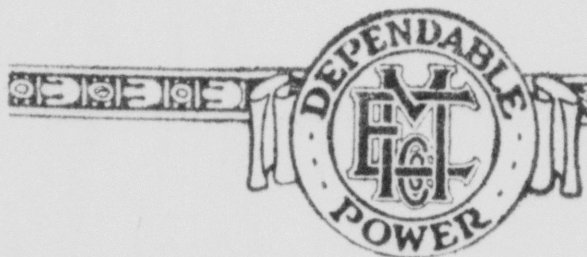

Tell these facts to your friends who ask you what the Midwest Engine Company is doing.

The world's biggest automotive success was founded on a product for which there is no larger natural demand than there is for the Utilitor.

—and the Utilitor is only one of the practical necessities produced by this great Indiana company.

school teacher is required to teach special subjects in the grades, such as agriculture, manual training, domestic science, music and art. Under no circumstances will said amounts be approved until satisfactory evidence is furnished showing clearly that these respective sums have been paid to teachers. If a superintendent has been employed for $7 a day, it will not be possible for a school corporation to apply for and receive state aid for a sum in excess of that. The department recognizes that the above salaries are not adequate in all cases, and recommends that these amounts be increased when necessary—the increases to be paid out of the special school fund.

The announcement refers to a prior announcement in which it is made plain that the 50, 60 and 75 cent levies mentioned in the law should be reduced in proportion to the increase in the valuation of the 1919 valuation of taxable property over 1918, or in other words that a total tax levy of 25 cents would be construed by the state board of tax commissioners to be equivalent to a levy of 50 cents under the old valuation.

that the plant will be in good condition for use during the winter.

Insurance policies falling due will cost the county about $1,050 during the next few months and an appropriation for this amount was made. The insurance is carried on the different county buildings.

These appropriations are in addition to those which were made at the time the county council held its regular session last fall. At the auditor's office it was stated that officials thought that the revenue this year would be sufficient to take care of the additional appropriations without resorting to loans. It is not expected that any temporary loans will be made before September 1, at the earliest.

tion board in November unless they are required to do so. The attorney general may be asked to give a ruling on the matter as the question seems to have arisen since the enactment of the new trustees' law.

The commissioners granted the clerks, judges and sheriffs pay at the rate of $3 a day. They were compensated on the basis of two days, each drawing $6. The commissioners ruled that "a day" began when the polls closed and ended when twelve hours had been served. As all the boards were in session more than twelve hours two days' pay was allowed.

Those furnishing meals for the precinct boards were allowed claims as filed. Most of these claims were for 75 cents a meal although a few were as low as 50 cents. Rental of rooms for election booths cost $5 each.

Following adjournment the commissioners drove to this city and inspected the concrete work on the Seymour-Dudleytown road with the view of receiving it and ordering the balance of the contract price paid to the construction firm.

The commissioners approved the John Atkins road in Brownstown township and appointed E. B. Douglass engineer, and John Hess and George Haner as viewers. The petition calls for a concrete improvement.

Prof. Karl J. Seulke will return to Ithaca, N. Y. this evening after spending a few days in this city. He is the eastern representative for the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association.

John Setser, who has been representative for the Freeman and Townsend Company, Columbus, has come to this city to act as an inspector for the state highway commission.

Wood and Johnson in the first five ballots. They are hoping Johnson will carry out his threat to take the coliseum floor in his fight against the League of Nations in any form. Butler has reiterated his intention of defending the Lodge reservations should Johnson raise such an issue.

As regards Hoover his backers have literally carried out his advise voiced shortly after he aligned himself with the Republican to keep his names out the primaries and state conventions and work among delegates already committed to another candidate to get their second choice. Investigation has disclosed that there has been considerable strength developed in this way. From authoritative sources, it was learned today that Hoover's name may not be presented to the convention in the first group of nominations but will be held until his nomination by second choice strength is brought into play.

NEW PURDUE LEAFLET GIVES SHRUBS FOR USE IN INDIANA

There are 28 varieties of shrubs, seven of vines, five of climbing roses and eight of hybrid perpetual roses that are especially suited to Indiana conditions, according to a leaflet which has just been prepared by C. L. Burkholder of the horticultural division of the Purdue University Extension Department. In addition to the varieties given, the leaflet gives the heights of the various plants, their time of blooming and the type of planting for which they are especially adapted and is especially valuable to home owners.

Shrubs may be had in any one of four colors, Golden Bell being the leading variety, Hall's Magnolia, white, Flowering Almond, pink and Japanese Rose, red. The first of these grows to be six feet high and blooms in April, Hall's Magnolia grows six to eight feet high and also blooms in April. The Flowering Almond is not tall, growing to a height of four to five feet and blooming in May. The Japanese Rose is still shorter, being three to four feet high and blooming in June. Snow-berry, Coral Berry and Morrow's Honeysuckle are types of shrubs that may be planted to produce fruit which is valuable for the color effect given.

Boston Ivy and Englemann's Aelopsis are two types of vines that are suited to brick walls, Virginia Creeper is recognized as a fine porch climber while Japanese Clematis is valuable for fall flowers. Wisteria has been found to be a strong grower and blomer. Matrimony Vine and Honeysuckle are two other types of vines that have been found to be well-suited for Indiana conditions.

Of the climbing roses, Dorothy Perkins, a delicate pink variety, has found to be one of the best. Silver moon, Excelsa and Crimson Rambler are also good varieties. Frau Karl Druseki and Margaret Dickson are two varieties of perpetual roses recommended.

The leaflet containing more details of shrubs and roses may be obtained free by writing the Extension Department of Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

CATTLE FEEDERS LOSE HEAVILY, EXPERIMENTS SHOW

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May—It cost Purdue University approximately $32 per head to fatten two year old steers for market during the five month period ending May 15, under average farm conditions. That is, the university lost this amount on each of 70 head of steers fitted for the butcher's block, because of the high price of feed, which it was necessary to use and because of the big drop in market prices during the last couple of months.

These facts were brought out at the annual spring meeting of the Indiana Cattle Feeders' Association held May 14 at the University, when feeders from throughout the state, gathered to inspect the cattle and talk over conditions. It was brought out at the meeting that practically every man who fed cattle during the last winter lost heavily. Reports on cost of production demonstrations conducted by the extension department in eastern Indiana in the vicinity of Muncie, showed that eight farmers lost an average of $20.37 per steer on a total of 313 animals, or a loss of considerably more than $6,000.

Remarks frequently made by the city man that the farmer was making "scads" of money, were discredited when cattle feeding reports were heard. The losses ranged from $10 to $45 per head, depending on the way the cattle were fed and the time of marketing.

As a result of the big losses suffered this year and also last spring as the market tumble this year as an exact recurrence of last year, feeding operations will be curtailed greatly next year, stock men predict and possibilities of a severe meat shortage loomed.

The experiment showed that the lot of cattle receiving a full feed of corn, silage, clover hay and cottonseed meal made the heaviest gains and also lost the most money this year, because of the relatively wide difference between the prices of feed and the market figure. The lot receiving the same feed with the exception of corn, showed the smallest loss, but they also made the poorest gains.

Little difference was found in the comparative feeding value of corn silage and corn and soybean silage. It was shown that this year, with the high price and the tumbling prices of livestock, that it did not pay to feed cotton seed meal. However, because of the reversal of the figure, actual experimental results this year were not up to standard.

PREMIUM LISTS MAILED FOR BOYS' POTATO SHOW

Premium lists for the First Annuals Boy "Potato Show" to be held at Purdue University during Farmers' Short Course Week of 1921 under auspices of the Indiana Horticultural Society are being mailed to prospective exhibitors and plans for the show are progressing rapidly according to a report of H. H. Swain, secretary of the society whose offices are at the university. Perhaps You Are, Too

A friend of mine was worn out running around trying to buy a particular some-thing-or-other.

Hours had been spent, also strength and temper, and the desired article had not been found.

I asked if a try had been made at such and such a store.

The reply was "No, of course not, they don't carry such things."

I disagreed. We went together and found what was wanted.

My friend said: "How did you know?"

"Easy," I replied. "They advertised them last week."

Without seeing the joke, she said: "I never have time to read advertisements. I'm too busy."

Perhaps you are, too. Many people are too busy to take time to save time, trouble, and money. They buy by chance—and hard work.

Reading advertisements is more than a time-saver; it's a good, safe investment in information concerning the best things the market offers you.

Another reason is—because it's absolutely pure in the can and in the cooking. "You'll be sorry for this," she warned him. "Good morning." She passed out into the general office, visited with Molra about five minutes, and drove away in the Napier. Bryce watched her through the window. She knew he was watching her, but nevertheless she could not forbear turning round to verify her suspicions. When she did, he waved his sound arm at her, and she flushed with vexation. "God bless her!" he murmured. "She's been my ally all along, and I never suspected it! I wonder what her game can be."

He sat musing for a long time. "Yes," he concluded presently, "old Poundstone has double-crossed us—and Pennington made it worth his while. And the Colonel sold the mayor his niece's automobile. It's worth twenty-five hundred dollars, at least, and since old Poundstone's finances will not permit such an extravagance, I'm wondering how Pennington expects him to pay for it. I smell a rat as big as a kangaroo. In this case two and two don't make four. They make six! Guess I'll build a fire under old Poundstone."

He took down the telephone receiver and called up the mayor. "Bryce Cardigan speaking, Mr. Poundstone," he greeted the chief executive of Sequoia.

"Oh, hello, Bryce, my boy," Poundstone boomed affably. "How's tricks?"

"So-so! I hear you've bought that sedan from Col. Pennington's niece. Wish I'd known it was for sale. I'd have outbid you. Want to make a profit on your bargain?"

"No, not this morning, Bryce. I think we'll keep it. Mrs. P— has been wanting a closed car for a long time, and when the Colonel offered me this one at a bargain, I snapped it up."

"And you don't care to get rid of it at a profit?" Bryce repeated.

"No, sirree!"

"Oh, you're mistaken, Mr. Mayor. I think you do. I would suggest that you take that car back to Pennington's garage and leave it there. That would be the most profitable thing you could do."

"What—what—what in blue blazes are you driving at?" the mayor spluttered.

"I wouldn't care to discuss it over the telephone. I take it, however, that a hint to the wise is sufficient; and I warn you, mayor, that if you keep that car it will bring you bad luck. Today is Friday, and Friday is an unlucky day. I'd get rid of that sedan before noon if I were you."

There was a long, fateful silence. Then in a singular snail, quavering voice: "You think it best, Cardigan?"

"I do. Return it to No. 38 Redwood boulevard, and no questions will be asked. Good-by!"

When Shirley reached home at noon, she found her car parked in front of the porte cochere; and a brief note, left with the butler, informed her that after thinking the matter over, Mrs. Poundstone had decided the Poundstone family could not afford such an extravagance, and accordingly the car was returned with many thanks for the opportunity to purchase it at such a ridiculously low figure. Shirley smiled, and put the car up in the garage. When she returned to the house her maid Thelma informed her that Mr. Bryce Cardigan had been calling her on the telephone. So she called Bryce up at once.

"Has Poundstone returned your car?" he queried.

"Why, yes. What makes you ask?"

"Oh, I had a suspicion he might. You see, I called him up and suggested it; somehow his honor is peculiarly susceptible to suggestions from me, and—"

"Bryce Cardigan," she declared, "you're a sly rascal—that's what you are. I shan't tell you another thing."

"I hope you had a stenographer at the dictograph when the mayor and your uncle cooked up their little deal. That was thoughtful of you, Shirley. It was a bully club to have up your sleeve at the final showdown, for will it you can make Unkiedunk behave himself and force that compromise you spoke of. Seriously, however, I don't want you to use it, Shirley. We must avoid a scandal by all means, and praise be, I don't need your civil to beat your uncle's brains out. I'm taking his club away from him to use for that purpose."

"Really, I believe you're happy to day."

"Happy? I should tell a man! If the streets of Sequoia were paved with eggs, I could walk them all day without making an omelette."

"It must be nice to feel so happy after so many months of the blues."

"Indeed it is, Shirley. You see until very recently I was very much worried as to your attitude toward me. I couldn't believe you'd so far forget yourself as to love me in spite of everything—so I never took the trouble to ask you. And now I don't have to ask you. I know! And I'll be around to see you after I get that crossing in!"

"You're perfectly horrid," she blazed, and hung up without the formality of saying good-by.

Shortly after Shirley's departure from his office, Bryce had a visit from Buck Ogilvy. The latter wore a neatly pressed suit of Shepherd plaid, with a white carnation in his lapel, and he was apparently the most light-hearted young man in Humboldt county. He struck an attitude and demanded:

"Boss, what do you think of my new suit?"

"You lunatic! Don't you know red blonds should never wear light shades? You're dressed like a negro minstrel."

"Well, I feel as happy as an end-man. And by the way, you're all chirked up yourself. Who's been helping you to the elixir of life? When we parted last night, you were forty fathoms deep in the slough of despond."

"No less a divinity than Miss Shirley Summer! She called this morning to explain that last night's fiasco was none of her making, and quite innocently she imparted the information that old Pennington lighted out for San Francisco at one o'clock this morning. Wherefore I laugh. Te-he! Ha-hab!"

"Three long, loud raucous cheers for Uncle. He's gone to rush a restraining order through the United States district court. Wonder why he didn't wire his attorney to attend to the matter for him."

"He has the crossing blocked, and inasmuch as the mayor feeds out of Pennington's hand, the Colonel is quite confident that said crossing will remain blocked. As for the restraining order—well, if one wants a thing well done, one should do it oneself."

"All that doesn't explain your cheerful attitude, though."

"Oh, but it does. I've told you about old Duncan McTavish, Molra's father, haven't I?" Ogilvy nodded, and Bryce continued: "When I fired the old scoundrel for boozing, it almost broke his heart; he had to leave Humboldt, where everybody knew him, so he wandered down into Mendocino county and got a job sticking lumber in the drying yard of the Willits Lumber company. He's been there two months now, and I am informed by his employer that old Mac hasn't taken a drink in all that time. And what's more, he isn't going to take one again."

"How do you know?"

"Because I make it my business to find out. Mac was the finest woods-boss this county ever knew; hence you do not assume that I would lose the old scoundrel without making a fight for him, do you? Why, Buck, he's been on the Cardigan pay roll thirty years, and I only fired him in order to reform him. Well, last week I sent one of Mac's old friends down to Willits purposely to call on him and invite him out for a time; but Mac wouldn't drink with him. No, sir, he couldn't be tempted. On the contrary, he told the tempter that I had promised to give him back his job if he remained on the water wagon for one year; he was resolved to win back his job and his self respect."

Salvation Army Commander is Confident Home Service Fund Will be Entirely Raised.

Indianapolis, Ind. — (Special) — Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in America, is so supremely confident that the entire $10,000,000 national fund and the $452,000 state fund being sought for the Home Service work of the Salvation Army will be raised.

Workers are now on the job in practically every county in this state enrolling subscribers who pledge themselves to help finance the Army's welfare and social service work.

Before sailing for Europe to inspect the Salvation Army corps which are still in service with the American army on the Rhine, Miss Booth said: "I have faith in God and in America. I know funds will be forthcoming to enable the 1,800 Salvation Army officers in this country to continue their humble work of serving the poor, the sick, the distressed and the sinful in every corner of the land."

"The response to our annual Home Service Appeal has been most generous thus far. It is merely a question of reaching all our friends and telling them of our needs in serving others. That will take some little time. As to the final result there can be no question."

Major Arthur R. Robinson, chairman of the Indiana committee directing the canvass for funds in Indiana, predicted yesterday that a majority of the Indiana counties will raise their quotas in the next ten days to two weeks.

REPORT $168,625 RAISED.

Indiana-Michigan Province Has Given That Sum to Salvation Army Home Service Fund.

Indianapolis, Ind. — (Special) — The States of Indiana and Michigan, which are joined as the Indiana-Michigan province of the Salvation Army, have raised a total of $168,625 in the enrollment for funds for the Home Service Appeal. It was reported here today at the state headquarters of the Indiana committee directing the enrollment work.

About 50 per cent of the amount reported represented Indiana subscriptions, it was said.

Major Arthur R. Robinson, chairman of the Indiana committee, said the active work in Indiana has just begun. "The canvass for the Home Service Fund was delayed by the political activity of both parties in the primary campaign and the subsequent state conventions," the chairman said. "With the political campaigns out of the way in Indiana we are now able to recruit full-strength organizations in practically every county and the enrollment is being carried forward with redoubled effort."

"Our goal is a fund of $452,000, which is to be used for social welfare and home service work and the erection of new buildings in cities and towns where the present facilities of the Salvation Army are entirely inadequate and too out-of-date to meet the constantly increasing requirements of the work the Salvation Army is doing for the unfortunate and im-provident citizens who are compelled to seek the aid of the Army."

BOARD OF REVIEW IN FIRST SESSION

The board will look over the assessments in the various townships and other taxing units to ascertain if the property has been listed on the same basis of equality. Should the board find that any unit has been assessed on a lower or higher basis than the others it has the authority to order such changes as may be deemed necessary.

Individuals and representatives of firms who believe that they have been assessed too high may under the law appear before the board and ask for corrections. The assessment sheets of the deputy assessors have been bound and placed under the control of the board of review so that any assessments may be quickly checked up when complaint is made.

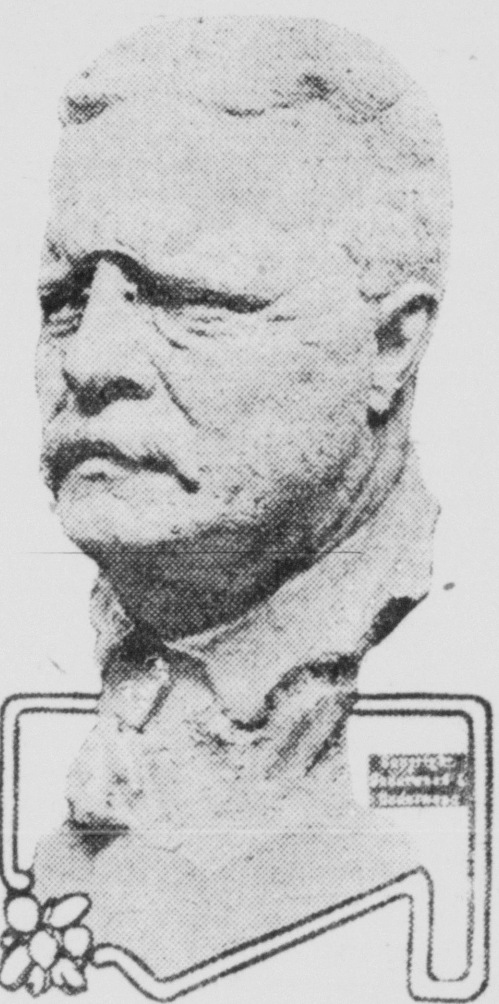

After the board of review finishes its work the assessment summaries will be forwarded to the state board of tax commissioners for final review. This board has final authority to change an assessment. Last year horizontal increases were made in several units in this county but it is not believed that such radical changes will be ordered this year.

MARVIN METEOROGRAPH

Prof. Charles F. Marvin, chief of the United States weather bureau, and a new self-recording weather-observing instrument called a meteorograph, which he has invented. The instrument automatically indicates various changes in weather conditions at any altitude. It is lifted into the air by a large box kite secured to earth by a piano wire. The wire is fed from a steel drum containing eight or ten miles of wire. Frequently at the six box-kite stations maintained by the bureau as many as ten kites are operated on one line. One outfit broke away from the Georgia station and helplessly entangled a mule in a cornfield. After three men had released the mule the meteorograph was found unharmed.

NOTED ENGINEER OUT WITH FACTS

Says the Results He Got From Tanlac Were Nothing Less Than Wonderful.

Captain Andy Ospring, engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad, pulling the fast train known as Keystone Express between Terre Haute and St. Louis, declares that the results he has received from Tanlac are nothing less than wonderful.

Captain Ospring has been engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad for the past forty years and is one of the best known and most popular men in the service of this road. His home address is 629 North Tenth street, East St. Louis. Relating his experience with Tanlac to friends in Terre Haute, a few days ago Captain Ospring said:

"Tanlac will always get a good recommendation from me for the results I have received from it are nothing less than wonderful. Before taking this medicine I had suffered from weak stomach, loss of appetite, sluggish liver and a run-down condition for several years. I could never enjoy anything to eat, suffered with severe pains in my back and chest, and was continually losing weight. The pains in my back were so severe that I could hardly bend over, couldn't even sit comfortably in my cab, and invariably finished my run feeling all tired out. I had gotten to where I dreaded to make my runs and had lost several trips on account of feeling so bad."

"I had taken lots of different kinds of medicines, but all failed until I found Tanlac. A friend of mine in Terre Haute put me on to Tanlac and that was the turning point with me. Three bottles of this medicine have fixed me up in fine shape and my weight has been increased eleven pounds. I have a fine appetite, don't have a pain of any kind, and feel all of fifteen years younger. I make my trips regularly, never losing any time, and come in from my runs without feeling all tired out like I used to. A medicine that will do such things is certainly worth while and I will always say a good word for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Seymour by Maxon's Pharmacy, and in Crothersville by C. W. Taulman, and in Brownstown by Chas. Brock. Advertisement.
